MORE INFO ON CQF

The CQF programme is delivered in the classroom in London and also live over the web (one evening class per week for 24 weeks commencing at 6pm London time). However for those delegates not able to webcast in live, all the classes are recorded and posted to an online account 24 hours after the class has been delivered - delegates can view the class in perpetuity and as many times as they wish. In addition all CQF delegates have access to a full library of additional classes that is continually increased and accessed by CQF alumni for continuing professional development, after they have completed the programme.

Course notes and exercises for the CQF are emailed to distance learning delegates 24 hrs before each class and all delegates (class and distance) are required to complete an exam paper at the end of each module (self regulated).

For each program we now admit approximately 80-85 delegates from US, Europe and Asia. I would be happy to put you in contact with some past delegates if you wish to have some feed back.

The programme is delivered twice a year, in January and in June. The next course will start on the 29th June 2006.
